

Wednesday A.M.

Dear Louise,

Am writing this so hurriedly hope you will be able to read it. Pop says Helen must go down but Helen is dreading to go - guess it is because she dreads going to the dining room, so you will have to help her out. We are not sure how or when she will come whether on the train or whether we will take her as far as Kingston or just to the L. & W. at Scranton.

Martha came up last night and I am going to make her a dress. Pop has gone to the C-don Milling co meeting so had no time
